Footlight Favorites

The entertainment for the first evening of the 1953 Gould Winter Carnival was supplied by a group of students participating in three one-act plays. Under the capable direction of Mr. Thompson, all of these theatrical performances were received favorably by the audience.

Following a selection played by the G. A. orchestra, Command Performance, a drama by Harold Knapp, was presented. The plot consists of the attempts of a Maharajah, enraged by the murder of his son, to satisfy his demands for revenge by choosing from a group of white people, supposedly his guests, a victim to meet death in the same way as his son. The cast succeeded in building up much tension in their portrayal of Command Performance. The students appearing in this play were as follows:

The Ayah, servant to the Maharajah, Nancy Tallion
The Rajpoot, Harley Merrill
The Maharajah, Ray Nowlin
Janette Lawrence, a singer,
Polly Timperley
Albert Rosetti, an artist,
Carter Taylor
Claudia Winters, a novelist,
Martha Spaulding
James Van Loon, an idler,
Felix McMorran
Mabel Morrison, a mother,
Barbara Jodrey
Henry Collins, a doctor,
Harrison Philbrick
John Kirby, a scientist,
William Penner

Next on the program was the comedy written by Edward Staadt, Cabbages. The Grossmeiers, members of the lower class of society, are caught in the whirlwind of a boomtown and find themselves classed as the more wealthy inhabitants of their small town. It takes the results of an investigation by a genealogist to convince Mrs. Grossmeier that she was born a cabbage, brought up a cabbage, and must remain a cabbage even if much money is handed her. Galley Brooks took the part of Mrs. Wilhelmina Grossmeier; David Ault of Gus, her long-suffering husband; Anne Backus of Elizabeth the maid; Kay Dorey of Tildy, their daughter; Joan Shippee of Mrs. Lena Fischer, an old friend; David Edelstein of Mr. Jenks, a reporter; and Frank Linnell of Mr. Markle, a genealogist.

During the short intermission Kay Dorey and Sylvia Ring sang several vocal selections.

The last of the one-act plays was The Boy Comes Home, a melodrama by A. A. Milne. After fighting for four years in the service of his country, Philip returns to the home of his aunt and pompous uncle. The majority of the plot takes place in a dream in which Uncle James believes Philip, his nephew, to use force to persuade James to his desires. The cast was as follows:

Philip, an English war veteran,
Douglas Saunders
Mary, the maid, Suzanne Stowell
Aunt Emily, gentle and dominated,
Marcia Theriault
Mrs. Higgins, the belligerent cook,
Frances Russell
Uncle James, jam magnate,
Donald Sweeney

Congratulations are extended to the casts for their fine work in presenting the plays. Also, the people behind the scenes should not be forgotten for their important part in the performance.

CARNIVAL BALL

The climax to an exciting Carnival week-end began at 8 o'clock, Saturday, February 14, in the gym—the annual ball, sponsored by the Outing Club.

The theme of the dance was the Swiss Alps, decorated by snow covered mountains, fir trees, and Swiss mountain climbers.

After a few dances, Mr. Ireland announced that the freshman class had won the snow sculpture competition with the juniors taking second place.

Shortly after intermission the grand march took place, led by Queen, Colleen Mead, and her escort, Dave Ault, followed by the members of her court and other members of the ski team.

Heading the decoration committee for the ball was Nancy Carver and faculty advisor, Miss Monzert. Their helpers were Mary Kneeland, Sandra Hatch, David Willard, Bartlett Hutchinson, and Gail Wallis.

Those on the refreshment committee were Cindy Ferris, Rhoda Downing, Bill Penner and Dick Emery.

LET'S HAVE AN OLD-FASHIONED!

Candles flickered on card tables in the dining hall, drooling wax down their pop-bottle candle-sticks. Little black cut-outs of a dapper gentleman and his frilly lady of the nineties leaned against the candles, proudly announcing Gehring Hall's "Gay Nineties Revue."

This was the culmination of a thorough job of renovating on second and third halls. Mops hung their dusty heads from open windows, deluging the snow beneath with feathery kittens. Beds were skidded across barely dry floors. The faces of proud seniors, grinning from their class pictures on desks and bureaux, were swatted with dust rags. Alas, efforts were in vain. Per usual, the boys eagerly ran

THE CORONATION

A feeling of excitement and expectation spread through the large crowd that had just viewed the plays. In the sleigh drawn by the members of the ski team sat the 1953 queen, Colleen Mead. The members of the ski team, each with a ski pole, made a long archway through which the queen, in the queen's robe, majestically walked to her throne made of snow which was bathed in a white spot. The members of the queen's court, Charlotte Bidwell, Barbara Cole, Judy Lamson, Betsy Mumford, and Frances Russell, also marched beneath the poles to take their places at each side of the queen. The queen sat on her royal throne, beaming happily.

Carol Barton, the 1952 queen, took the crown from her head and placed it on the new queen. Mr. Ireland then presented Colleen with a beautiful gold bracelet.

Each member of the ski team then knelt before the queen and she knighted each.

The queen descended her throne and marched into the gymnasium, her attendants, Mr. Ireland and Carol Barton, and the ski team following, where she became showered with congratulations.

Their hands over transoms and door sills, triumphantly showing grimy fingers to the chagrined occupants.

At seven thirty, the stream of observers flowed down to the dining room, which had been transformed from the romance of candlelight, to the semblance of an auditorium. Bedspreads, pinned together, had been utilized as a curtain for the entertainment. First on the repertoire was "Faint Heart Ne'er Won Fair Lady," a comedy about an excitable young maiden and her weak-hearted horse-smelling suitor. Dominating the scene as well as the lovers' lives, was a

SKI TEAM TAKES CARNIVAL MEET TO HELP MAKE PERFECT WEEK-END

A well-balanced Gould ski team gave some of the best teams in this region a sound licking as they won their annual ski meet. Gould racked up 381.62 points to take first place and was followed by a well-regarded Lebanon, New Hampshire team with 370.64. These two were followed by Edward Little of Auburn with 360.9, Rumford with 338.49, Berlin with 328.86, and Farmington with 317.28.

The Cross-country, first event, was taken by Lebanon as they edged Stephens of Rumford by two points with a score of 97.86 to 95.04. Gould followed with 94.34 and then came Edward Little with 92.60, Berlin with 92.17 and Farmington with 86.78. Although Burnham of Gould took first place Gould failed to do better than third as her next three runners were in the ninth, tenth and 26th slots. Letson of Lebanon took second place and was followed by Hurley of Edward Little. The winning time was twenty minutes and ten seconds.

Going into the next event, the downhill, Gould was trailing by three points, but they picked up two as they took the event by a score of 97.39 to second place Lebanon's 94.84. Edward Little followed with 88.21. First place was taken handily by Dick Boisvert of Lebanon as he shot down the steep and winding down-hill trail in 61.1 seconds. "Buster" Brown of Gould was second and Pete St. Lawrence, also of Gould, was third.

In the next event, slalom, Gould really showed her stuff as she picked up twelve points on her closest rival, Dick Boisvert of Lebanon again showed his great ability on skis as he took this event but the next three places were taken by Gould as Co-captain Tommy Butler took second place and the next two places were taken by Co-captain Ed Hastings and Herby Adams. Gould's winning total was 95.23 to second place Lebanon's 83.38. Edward Little followed with 82.37 and then came Farmington with 76.52, Rumford with 72.73 and Berlin with 67.22. Boisvert's winning time was 42.9.

Edward Little took the last event, jumping, as they took first, second, ninth and thirteenth. Their winning total was 92.72. Gould was second with 94.66 and Lebanon was third with 94.56. Bennett, showing fine form, chalked up 146.1 points to take first place. Herb Adams of Gould, who took fifth, leaped the furthest distance with a jump of 97 feet.

After the meet was over, the trophy and individual medals were awarded.

domineering mother, anxious to aid Cupid. The curtain jerked to a close after "There's an old sayin' that a weak heart ne'er sown a fair lady but a faint heart sure keeps a fella out of a heck of a lot of trouble."

The noisy rattle of drums and blat of horns announced "The Four Aces." This noisy din was the girls' answer to the boys' jazz band. The take-off was rendered more effective by a whirl of colors from the spotlight. The suits of the band were as loud as the music, the mixed plaids clashing impressively.

"It's in The Book" was next on the program. With coat tails flying, Cleo mimicked the record, "It's in The Book," a parody on Billy Graham.

Lastly, "Spec's Tonsorial Quartette" made their debut. The scene was Spec's barbershop, where the barbers paid more attention to jokes and songs than to the be-lathered occupants of

SOUTH OF THE BORDER

On January 14 the Spanish I and II classes presented an assembly a most interesting skit and narrative built around a Mexican street scene. Charlotte Bidwell, as narrator, introduced us to this land of color and told us a bit about its background, whereupon "Senora" Richardson showed some very interesting slides of Mexico and explained their meanings. The slides were of the people as well as their country, giving us a vivid description of life in Mexico.

With the country, people and customs well in mind, we were directed to one particular street scene where we saw the traditional sleeping peasant and of course, under his sombrero! By this time, either side of the narrow street was filling with sellers of vegetables and pottery and the street was busy with activity. Into the midst of this came the burro, kicking and leaping his way across the stage, much to the delight of the audience. Surely the Spanish skit would be incomplete without some member of that species each year.

American tourists were the next attraction who just happened to wander by this street scene and when this particular family (?) stopped to bargain, we soon realized that it is no fun to sell in Mexico! A beggar, making his way amidst the tourists, brought the final touch to a Spanish production we hope will be an annual event.

Much credit for the obvious success of the dorm party was due to Miss Kimball. At the termination of the entertainment, she received flowers and a vote of thanks from the girls.

Rest In Pieces

The siren wails; the ambulance goes careening down the street with its injured passenger. You've seen it. Perhaps you've seen the accident happen. It's quite a shock to witness a real tragedy like that.

Driving a car isn't just pushing the clutch and accelerator at the right time and shifting; it's knowing how to drive under existing weather conditions, knowing yourself and your abilities, knowing signs and signals and being cooperative and courteous.

Did you know that most of the accidents happen between pedestrians and drivers? Many people have said, "If the old fool had walked across the street a little faster, I'd have missed her." This certainly shows lack of helpfulness to others.

In this school we are very fortunate to have a Driver Education course. This includes the basic fundamentals of driving, but more than that, it teaches you to become a conscientious driver, one who has consideration for others on the road and has a good attitude towards the whole art of handling an automobile.

If you think about it, the Driver Education course isn't just a lot of nonsense of learning the codes by heart. It's trying to help you develop a good understanding. This consideration of pedestrians and cooperation among drivers are its main points, along with the essential rules of the road and driving knowledge.

If everyone took a Driver Education course, there'd be fewer accidents today on our highways and rural roads. Let's all try to have a better attitude towards driving and reduce them.

Outstanding Among Us

DICK EMERY

Richard Emery was born December 6, 1935, at Bar (Baaaaa, as in sheep) Harbor, Maine. A normal-looking boy, Dick went to school as soon as he could: about five years old. When he was eight, his folks moved to Newton, Connecticut. Dick went, too. He stayed there only two years, studying at the Hawley School right near his home. They moved north, stopping only to eat, until they came to Bethel, Maine, where they agreed unanimously to stay. Dickie immediately enrolled in the Bethel Grammar School, and having completed a high school prep course, he came to Gould and has been here ever since.

Dick has been truly outstanding. (And he is mild!)

He has been in most musical organizations: Boys' Glee Club, four years; Chapman Club and Varsity Glee Club, three years; two years in orchestra; and he has been in two musical operettas: "Pickles" and "Hulda of Holland."

Dick has been in the Camera Club two years, French Club one year, Outing Club one year, and head of class skits for two years.

He seems always to become the official head of the snow sculpture committee. Too, Dick always has a ready pen to draw a poster for a dance or play.

Dick received his music letter his sophomore year. He is well-known for his trio in the boys' dorm, and his arrangements are sure to "send" us. He finds cool chords on the guitar, too!

He was certainly prominent in cross country this year, placing well every meet and showing that determination will help one greatly. In basketball he does very well, having played J. V. ball for two years before his step to Varsity ball last year. Too, Dick was football manager for two years.

Dick has one brother who graduated in 1946 from Gould.

For hobbies, he prefers music, tennis, and drawing. Dick says he hopes to study art for his career; considering colleges, he has in mind Pratt in Brooklyn, N. Y., or Rhode Island School of Design.

We agree that you've certainly been a great friend to all, and a particular help to your school, Dick. In the future years, I'm sure that you shall achieve many honors, and the qualities of leadership you have shown here at Gould are sure to guide you on the Steep Hill to certain success.

SMUTS BIDWELL

Charlotte P. Bidwell—more familiarly called "Smuts"—was born on May 2, 1934, in Simsbury, Connecticut. She attended schools in Connecticut, including Simsbury High School. She came to Gould as a junior in 1952 and plunged wholeheartedly into the college course. She has been on the Honor Roll each six weeks marking period ever since. She immediately became active in sports and was a candidate for class secretary. This year, as a senior, Smuts is really busy. She was candidate for class president, an active member and treasurer of the Student Council, a member of the Girls' Glee Club, a member of the Outing Club, a member of the Gould Academy Camera Club, and she sings in the Methodist Church Choir. She was chosen as one of the outstanding seniors in volleyball and was manager of field hockey this fall. She is also on the reportorial staff of the Blue and Gold.

Her hobbies are varied. She has in her possession a miniature cow collection and "stacks" of clippings concerning Katie Hepburn. She follows Katie's activities religiously. She is very fond of horseback riding and basketball. She says that her favorite pastime is daydreaming, but we know that she must do more than daydream to get those high marks!

A possible goal is to become a biologist. She has applied for enrollment at several colleges, including the following: Dennison University—Ohio, Women's College of University of North Carolina, Mount Holyoke, Wells College in Aurora, New York. Smuts is a go-getter and sincere in her every project. Whenever she goes after she graduates next June, all our best wishes for success go with her. She's bound to come out on top if she keeps the fine record she's made at Gould.

MR. MARCUSE

On January 19, 1953, a new face was seen on the faculty platform.

Mr. Walter Marcuse, our new musical director, was born in Berlin, Germany, and got his education at Bismark Gymnasium, Berlin; Royal Conservatory, Florence, Italy; New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, Mass. He has received several degrees: B. S. Junior Stantling, Berlin, Germany; Diploma, Trumpet, Florence, Italy; Bachelor of Music, Boston, Mass.; Master of Music, Boston, Mass.

Previous to coming to Gould as a musical director, he held the following positions: Conservatorio International, Habana, Cuba; Houston Symphony Orchestra, Houston, Texas; Kansas City Philharmonic, Kansas City, Missouri; New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, Mass.; Winchester School System, Winchester, Mass.; Arlington Street Church, Boston, Mass., and organist and choir director at the Natick Congregational Church, Natick, Mass.

Mr. Marcuse brought with him to Bethel his wife, Leslie, and his twins, John and Jeanette, who have already won the hearts of the students with whom they have come in contact.

At an interview with Mr. Marcuse recently it was learned that he would prefer to play the organ to the piano. If he excels any more at this than he does on the ivory keys of a piano then it would certainly prove entertaining to hear.

Mr. Marcuse's chief hobby is languages and one can well understand why when he says, as if it were nothing, that he speaks English, Italian, Spanish, German, and a passable amount of French.

When questioned as to what his favorite type of music was he said 16th century and very modern. Recently he played for an audience of students, and upon hearing the music so beautifully played, some students who previously had heard what type of music was to be played and were not too enthused, very quickly gave all their attention. Mr. Marcuse's fingers seemed to have complete control of this large wooden and ivory instrument at all times, and the music flowed forth over the chapel.

After the question of just what his first impressions of Gould were, he rather emphatically answered that he had the material to work with and now he would set to work doing all he could to organize good musical groups.

The trip to New York must have been quite eventful. What happened to your stocking, Willie? I hope you reach your destination the next time you go, Bobbie.

The Hula Hop certainly was the rage at Rumsford. It's a wonder you girls weren't asked to leave.

I guess many parties were enjoyed during Christmas vacation. Gaila, did you get a good night's rest?

Hey, Tex, I hear you're honored in having a cousin from England. Quite the celebrity, aren't you?

Flossie, I hear you've been getting quite a haul since Christmas vacation. How do you rate? Four letters every day!!

The game with Wilton proved to be exciting in more ways than one! Thanks for the encouragement Mr. T., but you slightly distracted the cheerleaders. Didn't he, Willie?

The mountains were certainly taken by storm last week-end (and I don't mean rain either). How about the walks and that meat, girls? Val, you have some very ingenious songs. "Do me a favor; drop dead!"

Mary Ann, the next time you practice fancy driving, stay away from bulldozers and one hundred fifty foot drops. Please! How would we have gone home?

Mary, we all enjoyed your refreshing walk at one-thirty A. M. although it was a little chilly in Pinkham's Mountains.

It's kind of inconvenient to have your seams rip open on top of Black Mountain. Huh, Willie?

A GLIMPSE AT SKIDMORE COLLEGE

Skidmore College, a girls' college, is situated in Saratoga Springs, New York. While comparatively young, it has been a pioneer in the belief that the liberal arts education for women should be combined with the development of vocational interests and abilities. Demanding at least half academic work of those who, instead of choosing a Liberal Arts major, prefer to specialize in such fields as Art, Business, Drama, Home Economics, Music, Nursing and Physical Education, it differs from purely technical schools, allowing, with the specialization, a more general education. It offers both Bachelor Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees.

The students, consisting of 950 girls, all live on campus, forming a small community of which every member is proud. In order to illustrate the pride a Skidmore girl has for her school, let a graduate of Gould and a student of Skidmore tell you something about it:

"Everyone loves Skidmore, as you will find. It is hard work, but we're here for a purpose, and in order to gain these purposes, we must study hard. Courses are presented in an interesting manner, and the social life is so good that on week-ends one can take a bit of relaxation, providing she has worked hard during the week.

"Skidmore is situated in the most residential area of Saratoga. The campus begins at the rise of a slight hill directly off the main street, Broadway. From here as you look up the hill, you see Skidmore Hall, which is the senior dorm. Around this are several other dorms and buildings, and close at hand is historic Congress Park. It is truly a lovely park with a pond, benches, rolling green grasses and big hills. A road runs thru

"Bev, don't give up! Miss Monzert will make a Frenchman out of you yet.

Most people have some idea why they get "fair" in deportment, but nobody has solved Mary-Jane's case yet. It puzzles me!

Norway is a lively place Saturday nights. Huh, Sylvia? Bananas, bananas, and more bananas! Nancy, how do you rate?

"Poor Sam! What with all the new gowns arriving he has a lot of work.

And nobody else got the measles. Better luck next time, kids. You tried.

Temper, temper, Judy! Watch where you put that needle! Ouch!

First scarves on oversized needles and now nothing less than ARGYLES. Some fun—this knitting! Who're the lucky (?) men?

And when we tried to crawl into our beds that night where were they? On end—maybe, huh? Ever try sleeping ten feet in the air on nothing?!! Mimi, who is this Father Whipple?!

Pat, that isn't suicide leap, you know. Glad you had a blanket around you!!

OPINIONS APPRECIATED

Mamie Eisenhower's hair-do has been a controversial subject throughout the United States. From movie starlets, trying to gain publicity, to fervid Republicans, anxious to show that they are with the Administration, women have been acquiring the extremely short hair and bangs which have aroused so much discussion. Wondering what the students' thought of our new First Lady's hair-do, we approached several people on the subject.

Nancy Barba answered, "It fits her."

Eddie Hastings, however, said right off, "I don't like it!"

Nancy Willard agreed with him.

Dave Ault took a philosophical point of view. "It's better than a crew cut," he replied.

Bobbie Cole thought that maybe she should try pig-tails!

After much thought, Sam Adreience suggested that she try a cut like Kwame Nkrumah's! (For the uninformed: Refer to Time's February ninth cover.)

Marie Mills, though, probably hit the reason for the style when she said, "She probably doesn't want Ike to think that she's a long-hair."

the park, and in the middle of it is a Casino where we hold our proms. Besides the other campus buildings, college hall, class buildings, gymnasium, the Little Theater, and library, our Fifty Acres, which is out in the country, is equipped with a grand old farm house for eating, dancing, and lounging in general.

"Our social life is made interesting by fellows from several colleges, but mostly Colgate, Williams, Amherst, Cornell, and Dartmouth.

"Skidmore is known for these things: friendliness to be found nowhere else, her honor system, her high scholastic standing, good faculty, and clean cut, outstanding gals. We are all very proud of these things and work to keep these merits unique."

Rosie and Val, how do you like camping in a closet? Joan and Dale, you had to do some mighty fast explaining, huh? Candles, late hours, etc.!!

The transom is becoming a popular entrance. Right, Ann?!!

Wotta party, huh Jini!? Fun!! Hope the singing (?) was appreciated!

And then mops seemed to swing from nowhere. Daphne, you wouldn't know about that would you?

Who was yelling, "Chuck fell out the window" the other night? What do you keep in that room, Mimi? "You'd be surprised!"

Such a big sling for a splinter Bounce. At least you could have broken an arm or something.

Quite a week-end, eh girls!! From the looks of those sleepy eyes you must have had fun!!?

No, not everything was taken into the infirmary—Only half! And that birthday box. Swell!!

Poor Johnny! S'no fun to be restricted like that, eh? Though I noticed you still dance, so I guess it's all right. And the attention from les jeunes filles!

GOULD VS. SOUTH PARIS

The Gould team lost a close one to South Paris, 47-41. Fighting the toughest team they had yet met the Gould boys put up a good fight but couldn't overtake the snappy Cardinals. Going behind nine points in the first quarter the Gould boys dropped behind all the way until the last half when they made a valiant attempt to catch up with the opposing team but never made it. At the end of the first quarter South Paris was ahead, 15-6. At the half they had pushed the score up until the total was 23-13. When the third quarter had ended Gould had whittled their lead down to 37-29 and when the game was over the score was 47-41.

HUSKIES THUMP

BRIDGTON, 73-58

The Gould boys won a decisive victory over the Bridgton team 73-58. Starting early the boys were leading 13-7 at the first quarter and held their lead almost throughout the whole game. Rolfe and Murphy had to be taken out early in the second quarter because of three fouls but Emery and Rowe replaced them and played fine ball. At the half the score was 23-23 with Gould still holding her lead. In the third period the boys really came to life and pushed their lead up to 13 points resulting in a score of 49-36 at the end of that period. Fossett came through with high scoring honors with 24 points leading the team to victory with his fine performance. Rolfe, Murphy and Melville fouled out in the fourth quarter but Gould pushed the score up to win over Bridgton 73-58. The J. V. team also won 66-38.

HUSKY BITES PINTO

In a thrilling hard fought game Gould finally pulled out in front for good in the final minutes of the classic which they won 48-45. Playing on Mexico's smaller floor Gould teamed Mexico's ace center Tom Fraser. This aided Gould's win. Leo Rolfe led the pack with 24 points. Mexico's Fraser was next with 15, seven of these foul shots. Schwinn, Melville, and Fossett played exceptionally well defensively. The game was fast and hard played. Gould losing Melville, Rolfe, and Schwinn on fouls. Mexico was also handicapped by losing Swett, Bordeaux, and Fraser. In the preliminary game the Gould J.V.'s continued their winning ways by winning over Mexico's 39-17.

GOULD 67-BRIDGTON 44

Nine Huskies got into the scoring act on December 17 as Gould's basketball team opened their Sun-Journal season by romping over rival Bridgton High, 67-44. It was the Huskies' second victory in a row and proved to be an excellent lid lifter for Gould in the league's Western Division.

The Academy courtsters unloaded their heavy artillery in coping the decision and outscored their opponents in every period, even when the Gould bench was cleared and the subs took over. Although the first period ended with a close 15-11 score, the home quintet took command after that point. In the second canto, Gould's defense held Bridgton to only four points and they grabbed a 26-15 half-time lead. The Huskies continued to shine offensively and they sported a 45-27 edge at the three-quarter mark. They poured in 22 counters in the final period and pushed their winning margins to 67-44.

Captain Leo Rolfe, Paul Fossett and Frank Murphy all hit double digits to lead the Gould attack. Rolfe counted with nine goals from the floor and two from the free throw line for 20 points. Fossett tossed 17 counters on seven floor goals and three free tosses. Murphy's four floor goals and three free goals totaled 11. Thomas and Johns paced the visitors with 10 and nine points each.

The Husky J.V.'s made it a clean sweep by taking a decisive 55-31 victory over Bridgton's underclassmen. Merle White and Phil Rowe led the Pups as they crashed the scoring column with 19 and 12 points respectively.

GOULD 56-NORWAY 52

With three men teaming up with double figures, the Gould team stayed just far enough ahead of the Norway team to edge them 56-52 in the first meeting of the two teams. The game was a nerve-racking seesaw battle from beginning to the first quarter the team held end. Coming from behind after a one point margin, 27-26 at the half. The end of the third frame found the two teams in a deadlock, 41-41. The actual outcome of the contest was not determined until the buzzer snuffed out a Norway attempt to battle back. The three high men for Gould were Murphy, Fossett, and Rolfe with 15, 19, and 16 points respectively.

GOULD SURPRISES

WILTON, 52-37

On Tuesday, February 3, the Gould Academy basketball team went to Wilton to defeat the Sun-Journal Eastern Division champs 52 to 37. Gould led all the way from the starting of the clock to the final buzzer. Wilton used 13 men to Gould's 7, but they still couldn't catch up to Gould. Paul Fossett with 15 points, Leo Rolfe with 14, and Frank Murphy with 12, were high scorers for Gould. Buchanan with 12 points, Toothaker with 9, and Lothrop with 8 were high scorers for Wilton. Both teams played a very good game.

HUSKIES NIP NORWAY

Recovering from two straight defeats to South Paris, the Gould Huskies took a 51-50 verdict from Norway. They led until the final ten seconds then Norway tied it 50 all. Skip Melville was fouled and took the line for two shots. He made the first and the gun sounded as the second bounded off into the air. Fossett sparked Gould with 19 points and a good rebound game. Murphy played well defensively and Melville besides his winning foul shot played a smart game as usual. Norway's Thurston was high with 22 points. Guilford had 14 for the losers.

GOULD HAS HARD LUCK

On February 10, Mexico High School came to Gould and defeated them with a 48 to 38 score. Gould and Mexico were tied for second place but with a little hard luck Gould ended their 1952 and 53 season with a third on the Sun-Journal League. Gould ended their season with a 5 and 3 record. Mexico had three men in double figures. Tom Fraser with 15 points, Frank Sweet with 11, and Gallant with 10, were Mexico highlights of the night. Frank Murphy with 15 points was high for Gould. It was a good hard fought game, and we hope the boys show as good teamwork next year as they have this year.

Due to lack of space, two ski meets have been omitted from this issue, but statistics and totals will appear in the next

GOULD TOPS ST. PAT'S

It took two baskets in the last 30 seconds before the Gould Huskies finally copped their fifth victory of the season as they edged St. Patrick's High of Berlin, N. H. 49-47. The last half was a thrilling battle which saw the Blue and Gold in command most of the time although their leads were shaved to one point often. The Huskies seemed sure of the victory as they sported a 17-point lead late in the first period but when the bench was cleared and the second-stringers took over, the Berliners unloaded their heavy artillery and piled up 18 points before the varsity five was finally rushed in again. St. Pat's continued to wage a tight battle after the spirited rally and were in the ball game all the way, trailing after the third canto by only one point. Paul Fossett and Leo Rolfe tossed the two game winning goals as the clock ran out the final seconds of play. Fossett's 18 points and Rolfe's 16 paced the Husky attack. Fortuna and Al Roy hit double digits for the losers with 17 and 10 points each. The winning margin proved to be a floor goal as both quintets counted from the foul line but Gould had an 18 to 17 edge from the floor.

In the junior varsity preliminary, the Huskies took a 41 to 28 decision from the Shamrock underclassmen.

GOULD UPSETS COLLEGE

OPPOSITION, 57-42

Playing some of its finest ball of the season, Gould's courtsters surprised a favored college opposition on February 14 by grabbing a 57-42 decision over Farmington State Teachers' College first string Jayvees. The Huskies started hitting early and continued to play a winning brand of ball throughout the contest. Although their opposition had a decisive height and experience advantage, the Academy five's strong man-to-man defense upset the Farmington pass-and-go offensive tactics and sent them on the road to their ninth victory. The college quintet, which has previously beaten the University of Maine Freshmen, waged an even battle for the first half, which ended with the score knotted at 25 all. The Blue and Gold had held a small advantage at the first break. They built up a ten-point lead during the third canto and increased that margin to 15 before the final buzzer.

Leo Rolfe started scoring early and flashed 26 points through the nets to lead his teammates. Paul Fossett followed by tossing 15 and Frank Murphy added 10 to the Gould cause. Skip Melville, who had three fouls in the first period, and Gene White did a fine job in the back court.

The Gould victory was the preliminary to the Farmington Varsity's clash with Bridgewater, Mass. Farmington took the visitors handily 85 to 65.

These meets were at the Edward Little Carnival in which Gould took second place, and at the Rumford Carnival which Gould won.
